WOMAN'S WORLD.

SEASONABLE HINTS ON PREPARING GOOD PICNIC LUNCHES.

To Aid Working Women—The Belle of the Border—Commencement Reflections—Women in Belgium—Mrs. Hendricks—A Woman Attorney in Court.

An excellent picnic lunch may be arranged as follows:

Meat for sandwiches should be boiled the day before; then after removing bone, skin and gristle they should be put in packing tins, heavily weighted, and set in a cool place over night. Cut in very thin slices.

Bread one day old is best, and a very sharp knife is needed for cutting it into thin slices not over three inches square. These, buttered slightly, may be daintily filled with ham, salad, sardines, tongue or whatever one likes.

Then cut pieces of confectioners' paper just large enough to cover the sandwiches neatly. Place them side by side, closely packed, and they will preserve their shape without breaking. The paper is not to be removed until served.

Cakes must also be one day old, and for picnic use a little extra flour in stirring and an extra five or ten minutes in baking will insure a firmer crust. Frosting, if put on hot, does not crack and fall off. Cookies are more desirable than loaf cake, as are also cup and gem cakes. Jelly and cream confections are seldom nice for picnic serving.

Pies made of jellies, fruit or sweets are best cooked turnover fashion, the pastry covering the filling entirely. Lay them in paper covers and they serve thus very conveniently.

Lemon, orange, strawberry, raspberry or currant juices should be extracted, then sweetened, and when well dissolved, bottled. Drinks can then be prepared by adding two tablespoonfuls of the liquid to a tumbler of ice water. All these juices combined make a delicious drink.

Strong coffee or tea may also be prepared and served in the same way. Bright tin mugs are more convenient than tumblers, and there is no danger of breakage.

Hampers, with several trays, are more desirable for packing. Ordinary lunch baskets are a difficulty. White confectioners' paper should be used for lining the basket and for separating the different kinds of food; also for covering neatly individual pieces. Cookies and crackers must be put in tight boxes. Plates are too heavy, but bright, new biscuit tins—the square shapes are best—are very useful in packing, and with fringed napkins laid inside they serve well for salvers in handing the food around. Paper napkins are best.

Whatever is to be eaten last should be packed at the bottom of the hamper, and that to be served first on the top. Fruit, pickles, olives and cheese must not be forgotten.—Mrs. A. G. Lewis in Ladies' Home Journal.

To Aid Working Women.

In a recent sermon Rev. Madison C. Peters, of New York, spoke as follows: There are 250,000 women in New York city, exclusive of the domestic service, who are breadwinners, who have no male protectors and no means of support other than their own efforts. Though there are 343 trades open to them, an advertisement for one worker often brings a hundred applicants. Many of them are obliged to accept whatever wages are offered to them. There are trained sewing women in this city working nineteen hours a day for 25 cents. Boys' knee pants bring 50 cents a dozen, trousers from 12½ to 25 cents and shirts from 6¼ to 12½ cents. To work as prisoners for crime would be a respite to many of them. The injustice, the oppression and the suffering of these 250,000! What a theme for the reformer or the novelist! These starvation wages! The shopgirl's weary hours of standing after she is through the thousand demands made upon her! Such inhumanity! Woman has as much right to her bread as man has. Pay women the same as men for the same work if they do it equally well. The remedies I would suggest are:

First—Let every woman learn to do some one thing. Unskilled labor must take what is given.

Second—Never slight your work. The disparity between men's wages and women's is largely due to difference in the grade of work. Show the same determination to reach the top that male workers do.

Third—Train our women for housework. This is the solution of the question for the women who cannot earn a living at sewing or in the factory. There is nothing menial in the common work of the house.

Fourth—Let our storekeepers and manufacturers be given distinctly to understand that the low wages they pay contribute more to the social evil than all other causes combined.

Fifth—Let woman cease her inhumanity to woman. Women oppress women as much as men. They beat down to the lowest figure the woman who works for them, and the next minute spend ten times as much on the finified fooleries of fashion.

Sixth—Show the shopgirls and sewing women more sympathy. Do what you can to cheer the women who have to fight the battles of life alone.

The Belle of the Border.

For years to come the war between the cattlemen and rustlers will be a fruitful theme for story writers.

When the avenging army of cattlemen came across the border there was one man who was especially wanted, as he was supposed not only to be the head of the rustler organization, but his house was the headquarters of all the men who were known as being opposed to the big cattlemen who owned stock by the thousands. This rancher was especially favored by the cowboys on account of the presence of a daughter of Harvey Williams, the owner. She was the belle of the border, and her nerve and daring many times put to shame the cowboys who shirked duty or trouble on a bad night. She had only to say go, and all would go vieing with each other in their efforts to win smiles from the queen of the prairies.

When the invading band came into the country Harvey heard of it and as he was unable to get his family away before they came down upon him, he barricaded his home and determined to fight it out, hoping for the arrival of some of the cowboys from the range to help him out. His daughter Sallie said that she would soon bring the boys, and despite the pleading of her parents she slipped into the stable, and before the invaders were fully aware of what she had done she was on the back of one of the fastest horses in the country and flying away to where she knew a number of cowboys were camped.

Futile pursuit was made by the cattlemen, and they could have as easily caught the wind. When the pursuers saw her heading for the cowboys' camp they realized she had gone for re-enforcements and hastily beat a retreat and called off the besieging force, as they could not risk a battle at that time. To the shame of the invading cattlemen, it is told that they fired several shots at the flying girl, two bullets striking her clothing and one wounding her horse in the hip slightly.—Cor. Philadelphia Press.

Commencement Reflections.

Carriages with their loads of pretty white gowned girls from now on will be seen dashing through the streets carrying the graduates to or from the place where their commencement exercises are to be held. Happy parents will smile as they listen to the compliments or watch the bestowal of prizes on their bright young daughters. Friends will applaud and teachers praise her. And what of the daughter herself? It will be a gala day, indeed, for her. Our own graduation is not so far back in the dim past that we cannot remember the thrill of pride when we were given the white diploma that signified that we had satisfactorily completed our studies and the school days were at last over.

As we rode through the streets in all the prettiness of white lace and ribbon we felt the eyes of the world upon us. And then the applause at the recitation and the group of waiting children to see us pass out with the bouquets and baskets of flowers, the worry of examination all over and the long summer of life opening out before us! It has not all been the unruffled calm that that we anticipated. Summer has given place to winter, storm and shower have been more frequent than sunshine, but out of the clouds there stands forth that one day when in reality we commence to live.

Ah, if we could but go back! Mother was there sitting on the platform, the most pleased of all. Father looked so happy as he listened to the girlish voice read the address—essay on a topic not nearly so mystifying as the new paths the little feet so soon would tread.

There were our girlhood friends, and now where are they all? Father and mother gone to that land from which no traveler ever returns; friends scattered to the four corners of the globe, and we older, wiser and humbler than in that time gone by when every bud and every leaf cried out for joy, "This is your commencement day."—Philadelphia Times.

Wide Awake Women in Belgium.

The little kingdom of Belgium is just now passing through a period of political and social revolution which, although peaceful, is uncommonly intense and exciting. It is the same restless spirit of reformation which has just caused a league of the rights of woman to be established. Two female doctors, Miss Marie Popelin, a lawyer, and Miss Van Diest, a medical practitioner; a journalist called Mad Jessie Convreur, and two other girls not distinguished by any title or profession, Misses Anna Boch and Gatti de Gamond, from the central committee at Brussels, which has been joined by two male lawyers, Louis Frank and Henri Lafontaine.

The league claims all the rights demanded by the various women's societies of America, and intends pushing them by arranging meetings of women all over the country, founding a woman's rights publishing company and periodical, establishing agencies for female laborers in every branch, collecting a woman's library limited to works upon the emancipation of women, bringing about a universal federation of all interested in the cause. The working committee has laid out work for five subcommittees—for education, for participation in the labors of public and private charities, and in the struggle against drink, war, immorality and gambling, for unrestricted admission to trades and professions, equality of woman's wages with those paid to men and for female trades unions, for legislation establishing equality of male and female before the law, and, lastly, for propaganda, library, publications, conferences, etc.—Chicago Herald.

Mrs. Hendricks at the Capital.

The widow of the late Vice President Hendricks has been visiting Mrs. S. V. Niles, in this city, and for the first time since her husband's death Washington people who knew her well have had an opportunity to meet her. Mrs. Hendricks lives alone in her Indianapolis house opposite the statehouse, in front of which is the large statue erected to the vice president's memory. She devotes her time principally to charitable work, and is the president of the board of management of the woman's state reformatory, in which she is very deeply interested. While that personal interest which she formerly took in politics is entirely gone, she is still alive to all the issues of the day and has no lack of information on all topics of general importance.

For a long time after Mr. Hendricks death she could hardly even bear to think of Washington and would not visit lifelong and intimate friends here. On this visit, however, it was noticed that she seemed to have regained much of her former interest in everything that was going on and during her stay was deluged with invitations. In her Indianapolis home Mrs. Hendricks has gathered many souvenirs of her husband and one of its most noticeable ornaments is a magnificent life size portrait of the vice president that, it is understood, she proposes to bequeath to the state.—Washington Post.

A Woman Attorney in Court.

Colorado's first woman lawyer, Mrs. Josephine Luthe, appeared in the west side criminal court yesterday. She had been assigned to defend F. E. Wilson, a poor youth, who was charged with larceny from the person. Though she worked hard and with all the legal acumen of an old practitioner, she could not save her client from a conviction. Mrs. Luthe made a good effect on the jury by her charming appearance and the vigor with which she espoused the cause of the accused. She was dressed in a closely fitting gown of dark green, and her auburn hair was surmounted by a neat little hat. She spoke in well modulated tones.

The prosecution was conducted by Colonel Dennison, and in his address to the jury he warned them not to let their gallantry toward the opposing counsel have any effect upon their deliberations. Whether the warning was heeded or not, certain it is that the jury added a recommendation to mercy with their verdict of guilty to the charge of attempted larceny from the person. Mrs. Luthe, however, was not satisfied with this, and she immediately made a motion for a new trial.—Denver Republican.

The Shirt of the Season.

The knell of the ladies' stiffened shirt front was rung last year and a glorified idealized garment has taken its place this season. It is a little, full ruffled silk front, fastened around the waist with elastic bands or else let into a waistcoat lining, for all the world like a man's, save in that it opens behind. This is to be worn with a blazer, is finished at the waist with a pointed girdle effect and has a full ruffle down the front and a turnover collar. It is made of plain or figured silk, and has a soft and feminine effect, even when worn with the stiffest of tailor gowns. There are silk gamps, too, tucked and ruffled, to be worn with the suspender dresses, and when the peasant bodice and suspender are combined the effect is lovely indeed.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Rose Rash.

Rose rash, which is sometimes called false measles, is a very mild and insignificant attack from which babies sometimes suffer. The symptoms are pretty much the same as measles and chickenpox. The eruption appears in red patches, which appear, disappear, and then frequently appear again. The disease is more noticeable in summer than at any other time in the year. One attack does not insure immunity from a second. Only a light, mild treatment, with weak lemonade as a drink, and perhaps one or two grain doses of quinine, is all that is required.—Baby.

A Woman's Heroism Rewarded.

Senator Allen, of Washington, has received from the secretary of the treasury a magnificent gold medal, to be transmitted to Mrs. Martha White, of Washington, for rescuing three shipwrecked sailors of the British ship Ferndale. Engraved in a circle around the face of the medal are the words, "In testimony of heroic deeds in rescuing three men from drowning." On the reverse side of the medal is the inscription, "United States of America, act of congress, June 20, 1870."—Washington Letter.

A Society Girl's Expenses.

Some one has been to the pains to ascertain that the necessary expenses which the society girl's income must cover are $15,000 a year. Among interesting items of the list is one of $200 for hairpins and toilet articles, another of $100 for gloves, one of $100 more for so called "odds and ends" and the generous amount of $25 for charity. And still people wonder why young men do not marry.—Exchange.

The Harvard Annex Girl's Prize.

For the second time a Harvard annex girl has captured the prize for the best metrical translation of an ode of Horace over the heads of the Harvard boys. It deserves to be said, however, that the baseball, football and boating championships continue to be monopolized by the academic lords of creation.—Boston Herald.

In decorating skirts ribbon has completely superseded lace. All sorts of pretty and fanciful devices are worked out in satin loops and ends, and excite admiring wonder at the grace and ingenuity displayed.

Remember that the knob of your parasol is not a bonbon, although, from the industrious manner in which some women feast upon it, one might be led to think so.

A new mourning brooch is oval, slightly concave and lusterless. In the hollow is a spray of lily of the valley, double hearts or leaf branch in pearls.

The dry goods dealers in Great Britain are complaining that dresses last altogether too long and that trade is suffering in consequence.

An English woman was recently fined because she allowed her baby carriage to be drawn a short distance along the public road by two dogs.

Brunettes should never attempt tan colored veils or those in any shade of brown, those belong to women of the blond type.

Miss Anna Hallowell, of Philadelphia, has become noted for her success in establishing public kindergartens.

The first ladies' bicycle club in Sweden has just been formed with a membership of sixteen.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.
As a general family remedy for Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced. It seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

THAT DEATH-BREEDING DITCH.

Although Sonoma has a local Board of Health there has been maintained right in the heart of town one of the most filthy nuisances possible. We refer to the ditch running alongside and the entire length of First-street West, which has been converted into an open sewer by a number of property-owners on that thoroughfare. Drain pipes run into the same from five or six houses and the refuse of privy vaults, sinks and chinese wash houses are allowed to run into this ditch, creating an odor repulsive to the olfactory organs and menacing to the health of the town.

It is not the intent of this article to discuss the proposition as to whether or not these property-owners have the right to the use of the ditch in question for sewerage purposes. We will leave that point to be determined by the City Trustees and those who have been ordered to abate the nuisance by that body. We wish simply to call the attention of the people of Sonoma to the great danger that lurks in the noisome vapors arising from the same and would most earnestly urge our people to cast aside all petty spites and jealousies and co-operate with the City Fathers in devising some means satisfactory to all parties concerned to remedy the evil, that the health of the town be not sacrificed and its growth retarded. It is not right or proper for any one having the interests of Sonoma at heart to throw obstacles in the way of its governing power, for the sake of individual interest, when that body is endeavoring to preserve the health of its people. In a matter of this kind private interests must be subservient to the interests of the general public and all should pull together in bettering the sanitary condition of the town, particularly so at this time.

Cities and towns all over the United States and Europe are just now engaged in improving their sanitary condition. Cholera has again invaded Europe, and is now making gigantic strides toward the northern borders of the German Empire, and like the la grippe, may eventually reach these shores. Boards of Health in all the principal cities and towns, knowing the rapidity with which cholera travels and that it cannot be quarantined are preparing to hold back the grim invader by just such sanitary measures that the Trustees of Sonoma are endeavoring to enforce.

Dr. J. R. Laine, Secretary of the State Board of Health, in his monthly circular for June, gives warning to local Boards of Health, Town Trustees and the public generally. The Dr. says:

"Cholera, true to tradition, is following upon the heels of la grippe. It has leaped all boundaries between Asia and Europe, and is reported as devastating the famine-stricken districts of Russia; but with the rapid and easy methods of travel, cholera no longer moves at a man's pace. Like a winged messenger, it has arrived in the great capitals of Europe, and consultations are being held to decide what best may be done to stay its fatal spread. Common prudence would dictate that we look after our private and municipal sanitary affairs. It is just as well to expect no benefits from quarantine in cholera. It has never alone checked the progress of this disease. Cholera has always mocked at quarantine, but it has been repeatedly balked by want of filth and polluted soil to breed in and spread from. It is the duty of medical men to explain to the public that cholera is not contracted, like smallpox, measles and scarlatina, but from swallowing the germs in water and food, or, after they have effected a lodgement in the throat, from a vitiated and poisoned atmosphere. We may not be visited at all, but the specter will be shorn of half its terrors when we have done all there is to be accomplished to hold it back."

"I was prostrated with a severe bilious complaint," writes Erastus Southworth, of Bath, Me. "After vainly trying a number of remedies, I was finally induced to take Ayer's Pills. I had scarcely taken two boxes when I was completely cured."

COLUMBUS AND COLUMBIA.

The Dominion Publishing Company of Seattle, Wash., has just brought out a truly great work under the above title. It is not the creation of one mind, but the combined genuis of four master authors, Hon. James G. Blaine, Prof. John Clark Ridpath, J. W. Buel and Hon. Benj. Butterworth, each performing an important part in its production. It is in fact four important and valuable books bound up in one huge volume containing nearly 900 large quarto pages and 500 illustrations and historical paintings, many of them being full page colored plates, and of the whole of which it is impossible to speak in too much praise. "Columbus and Columbia" may be truly said to constitute a grand panorama of our country's surprising history. Mr. Blaine has certainly been very happy in his portion of the work, which consists of "A Review of Our Country;" nor has Prof. Ridpath been less successful in his elaborate and attractively written "History of the United States," from its discovery by Columbus to the present time. The name of J. W. Buel is too well known to every book reader in this country to need any further recommendation from us, and he has certainly added immensely to his reputation by his splended biography of Christopher Columbus, which forms an important feature of this work. Full justice has been done by Hon. Benj. Butterworth to the subject that he has taken in hand, namely "An Official History of the Columbian Exposition," than whom certainly no one is better able to handle this subject than Mr. Butterworth, who has been acting as Secretary and Solicitor-General for the World's Fair Commission. As the century closes, every intelligent family will want a record of its wonderful accomplishment, and a history of the splendid events that have led up to them, and "Columbus and Columba" is a work that certainly fills the bill beyond what would be conceived possible within the scope of one volume. It is certainly a book that every family in America ought to and must have. We must congratulate the Dominion Publishing Company in having brought before the public a work that will be a credit to their zeal and enterprise for a long time to come. We understand that "Columbus and Columbia" is sold only by subscription and at popular prices. The publishers' advertisement appears in another column.

Dead Sea Fruits.

They slay multitudes when they are the product of neglect of incipient disease. A "slight" cold, a fit of indigestion, biliousness, or constipation each or any of these "minor ailments" advance in many cases with "league-destroying strides." Give them a swift, early defeat with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters and avert the danger. Abernethy administered an alarming rebuke to the man who informed him that he had "only a cold!" "Only a cold," repeated the doctor. "What would ye have—the plague?" Rheumatism and la grippe are easily extinguishable at the start. Why then allow them to get up a full head of steam? Put on the brakes with the Bitters! The genial warmth which this superb medicine diffuses the system, the impetus it gives to the circulation of the blood, the soothing and strengthing effect upon the nervous, specially recommend it to the enfeebled and sick. 'Tis the great specific for malaria.

The First Step.

Perhaps you are run down, can't eat, can't sleep, can't think, can't do anything to your satisfaction, and you wonder what ails you. You should heed the warning, you are taking the first step into Nervous Prostration. You need a Nerve Tonic and Electric Bitters you will find the exact remedy for restoring your nervous system to its normal, healthy condition. Surprising results follow the use of this great Nerve Tonic and Alterative. Your appetite returns, good digestion is restored, and the Liver and Kidneys resume healthy action. Try a bottle. Price 50c. at Ed. Wegner's Drug Store.

So easy in its action, harmless and effectual in relieving is Simmons Liver Regulator.

Gave Fair Warning.

A keen sense of humor had a certain convict at Dartmoor, who carted down from his cell one night his books, etc., and handed them to the principal warder with a statement that as he was going home on the morrow he required them no longer.

"Eh, what!" the officer exclaimed. "Why, you've got seven or eight years to do, my man."

"No, I ain't," the prisoner replied; "I'm off home tomorrow."

This statement caused much merriment amongst the officials and warders standing by. They laughed on the other side of the mouth, however, the next day, for B—— early in the day made a daring and successful escape from the gang in which he was working on the bogs, and decamped across the moor.—London Tit-Bits.

Umbrella Etiquette in Turkey.

In China ladies are attended by servants who hold umbrellas over their heads. The Chinese and Japanese introduce both the umbrella and parasol into their decorative work and athletic sports. In western Turkey it is necessary to close an umbrella on meeting people of high rank, and a European traveler who was passing one of the palaces of the sultan was nearly run through by the guard before he comprehended that he must put down the open umbrella he carried. Every one passing the actual residence of the sultan lowers his umbrella as a salutation to "the brother of the sun and the moon."—Detroit Free Press.

is not enough to even mention briefly the scores of resorts throughout California.

In Mountains we have between Shasta on the south and San Jacinto on the south the myriad peaks of Sierras and the Coast Range.

In Lakes there are scores, from the small glacier cups to the great inland seas of Tahoe, Clear and Tuare.

In Mineral Springs we have hundreds that cure all sorts of ailments

In Seaside Resorts there are scattered along the coast at convenient intervals enough salt-bathing and recuperating establishments to accommodate all inland leisure seekers.

There is therefore no lack of variety, and no excuse for the dweller by the sea in not making a tour into the mountain, or the dweller in the inland valleys and mountains in not seeking a journey to the sea.

The sum total of these remarks is that your readers need a change: you can better afford to take one than not. Mark that. You can take your choice of localities and you may be breaking some of the commandments if you do not attend to this matter.

Thought the World was Coming to an End.

The shock of the explosion of the giant powder works at Highland, West Berkeley, last Saturday morning gave Sonoma a rattling and a shaking up that will not be forgotten for some time to come. Although twenty-five or thirty miles distant in an air line from the scene of the explosion the shock was so great that it struck terror into the hearts of many of our people, some of whom thought the world was coming to an end. Houses shook and trembled and the strange noises in the air that accompanied the shaking up were simply appalling. At the time almost everybody thought the town had been visited by another earthquake.

Another Petition.

A petition is being circulated among property-owners asking the Board of City Trustees to flush the ditch on First-street West. This ditch, which has been converted into a sewer by private parties, has been an abominable nuisance for a number of years, and the stench arising from the same is intolerable during the summer months Filth of every description is allowed to flow into it from drain pipes to the menace of the health of the town. It is a matter that should receive serious consideration at the hands of our local Board of Health and the City Trustees.

A special meeting of the City Trustees was held last Tuesday morning to consider a previous petition in regard to this ditch, which requested that body to rescind an order passed at its last regular meeting prohibiting the discharge of waste water into the same. The Trustees, never having prohibited the use of the ditch for carrying off waste water, so informed the petitioners. What they had sought to prohibit, however, was embraced in the following order: "On motion of Trustee Litzius the Marshal was ordered to close up all pipes or drains discharging sewerage into any open ditch or water course running through town. This being the case the Trustees held that the discharge of waste water had not been interdicted by said order and that the petition was out of order. Hence the second petition.

In passing the order which the petitioners asked the Trustees to rescind they were simply enforcing a law laid down by a former Board of City Trustees in ordinance No. 24, defining nuisances, as follows:

Section 2—No person occupying any house, building or premises, in whole or in part, shall permit any swill, dishwater or the drainage from a stable, privy or wash-house to run in upon or across a street of said city unless a proper drain or sewer shall first have been constructed by said city for such purposes.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Supervisor Who Wanted a $10,000 Map

Kicks Over a Little Old Printing Bill—Other Matters.

The Board of Supervisors met in regular monthly session at the Court House, Santa Rosa, on the 6th inst. at 10 o'clock A. M.

The reports of the following named road overseers were received and placed on file and the accompanying bills allowed: Joseph Gossage, Petaluma road district, $134.45; Chas. Fairclo, Sebastopol, $476.52; James Patrick, Knights Valley, $41; Wm. F. Harris, Washington, $202; D. B. Peugh, Redwood, $166.06; T. J. Gould, Ocean, $145; A. J. Hembree, Russian River, $190; J. F. Burgess, Santa Rosa, $197.40; H. A. Russell, Santa Rosa, $679.25; Ira Proctor, Mendocino, $697.82.

The petition of E. M. Cutter and others asking for the abandonment of a portion of a public road in Sonoma road district, known as Denmark street, was set for final hearing on August 5th.

THURSDAY, July 7th.

Upon motion of Supervisor Cady a resolution was adoped by the Board objecting to an extra session of the Legislature being held. The following named road overseers' reports were received and placed on file, and the accompanying bills allowed: James Owens, Bodega, $305.53; N. H. Cox, Healdsburg, $206.25; J. E. Kearney, Sonoma, $203.65.

The clerk was authorized to notify the local officers in the several townships to arrest all persons detected in painting signs and otherwise defacing the bridges of the county.

There being three bids to furnish 100 cords of wood for $5 a cord a vote was taken and resulted in the contract being awarded to A. Peterson.

John McMinn Jr. was instructed to place an insurance policy for $4,000 on the Sonoma county end of the Gualala bridge and one for $6,000 on the Alexander valley bridge.

A large number of bills were presennted and allowed, and would you beleive it, the INDEX-TRIBUNE came in for the first time in several years for some of the county's pap.

The bill was for $4.50 and it was allowed, and we are now thinking of banking the amount and retiring from business.

FRIDAY, July 8th.

The bill of E. J. Livernash of the Healdsburg Enterprise for $764 for printing the delinquent tax list was presented and was the cause of considerable discussion, but was finally passed. Supervisor Cady was absent at the time and when he returned at 11 o'clock, the advocate of $40,000 jails and $10,000 maps got in with both feet and the way he kicked against the action of the Board for daring to allow the skinny claim without his permission was a caution. As Mr. Cady runs the Board, if we except chairman Mead, he speedily had the whole matter reconsidered until Wednesday, July 13th.

The boundary lines of the voting precincts in Petaluma township were changed to comply with the new law limiting the number of votes in each precinct to 200.

The petition of H. M. LeBaron, E. J. Fowler and others for the formation of a voting precinct at Valley Ford was granted and said precinct was established.

MONDAY, July 11th.

The petition of Owen McCristian et al. for change in the boundaries between the Spring Hill and Marshal school districts, was set for hearing on August 4.

The new road between Santa Rosa and Sonoma road to Melita station, petitoned for by F. P. Weeks and others, was declared a public highway.

Supervisor Cady was instructed to have certain repairs made to the iron bridge across Sonoma creek.

WEDNESDAY, July 13th.

The principal part of the day's session was taken up in discussing the bill of J. J. Livernash of the Healdsburg Enterprise for $736 for printing the delinquent tax list. The Enterprise was represented by E. J. Livernash and J. C. Sims.

Mr. Smith was not in favor allowing the bill until the district attorney should finally pass upon it. There was a running debtae between Mr. Cady, Mr. Livernash and Mr. Sims in regard to the bill, which was finally scaled down to $633 and passed. The deductions were made owing to incorrect measurements, and for displays made in headings.

All agreed to allowing it but Mr. Smith, who contended that it would not be consistent to allow it until the District Attorney gave them his final opinion on it.

The Goods are Pure.

San Francisco Chronicle

The fact that the Royal Baking Powder Company has succeeded far beyond any of its competitors is no doubt reason enough for some of them to say anything against the Royal Baking Powder that they can get newspapers to publish. We do not know whether that sort of thing has injured the Royal's business or not. We don't suppose it has, but of one thing we are sure, when the goods of any company have been on the market, as Royal Baking Powder has, for a whole generation, and been consumed by almost the entire population to a greater or less extent, with perfect satisfaction to all, and without having injured the health of a single person, then it will take more than spite or jealousy to injure its business. The baking powders made by this Company have been tested a thousand times by the most eminent chemists and always pronounced pure and wholesome. This, added to the experience of the millions who have used them, will stamp as absurd the attacks of other manufacturers who are prompted by jealousy of their great success to publish false statements about the Royal Company's goods.

The One We Love the Best.

If all the joys that Heaven doth send,
I think it must be confessed;
The sweetest is to be with one,
The one we love the best.

What joy to hear the voice of love,
Each soft and gentle tone;
Inspired by a heart that beats,
For us, and us alone.

To see the heavenly light that shines,
Within those tender eyes;
To feel the language that they speak,
To which our soul replies.

To press once more those ruby lips,
To clasp within our arms;
That one with whom we feel secure
From all the world's alarms.

What more can mortal ask than this,
What more can Heaven bestow;
Than love's sweet smile to cheer the path,
We travel here below!

I'd rather spend one little hour,
By my beloved's side;
Than taste all joys that earth could give,
Her presence being denied.

If all the joys that Heaven doth send,
I think it will be confessed;
The sweetest is to be with one,
The one we love the best.

FAIR YOUNG PIONEERS THESE.

New York Normal College Turns Out Its First Girl Bachelors of Arts.

The big hall of the normal college of the city of New York at Sixty-eighth street and Park avenue was filled with an audience of 2,000 people Thursday morning who had come to see the 273 graduates of this year's class in the closing exercises of the school. These 273 are now fully qualified, as their diplomas attest, to teach in New York's public schools. Noticeable among the graduates was a group of fifty who wore colors of orange and white fastened with pins bearing the motto, "Tentanda via est," concerning which one of the wearers confidently informed a friend that it meant "get out of our way."

This group was composed of the academic part of the class, "A. C. 5th," in school parlance, and they are the first girls who have ever received the degree of bachelor of arts from any publicly supported institution in this country. This caused no marked difference in their appearance, however, from that of their less fortunate sisters, except in the colors and pins they wore. There was discernible in their countenances, however, a subdued consciousness of their importance in being the first class ever graduated from the institution to attain the lofty general scholarship indicated by a class average of over 90 per cent.

Around the bachelor band were seated the normal graduates, 223 strong, wearing lavender and white colors and pins ornamented with their class motto. In the seats back of the white mass of graduates and in the overhanging galleries the audience was closely packed, while in the front was the platform where sat the dignitaries of the day.

A large number of policemen were scattered about the hall, as if fears were entertained that the bachelors, in celebration of their newly acquired masculinity, might institute a college rush or do something equally subversive of normal school decorum. The exercises passed off without any such disturbance, however, from the salutatory of Harriet M. Raschen to the valedictory delivered by Lina Hall. The programme was agreeably diversified by some very good singing by the normal college glee club, who reflected great credit on their training, both in the selection and rendition of their songs.

After the essays and distribution of the regular prizes, School Commissioner Clara M. Williams, who is herself a graduate of the normal school, awarded four prizes, one to the girl of each class having the highest standing, and then announced that two prizes, one of twenty dollars, the other of ten dollars, were to be awarded for the best essays on General Grant, the Grant monument committee having offered the prizes. One of these was offered to the College of the City of New York, but the students of that enterprising institution complained that it was too near examination time to work on essays, so the prize intended for them was added to the one offered to their more industrious sisters. The prizes were won by Ethel Stebbins and Estelle Forschheimer.

When the exercises were over the fifty bachelors led the way out, carrying their diplomas bearing the new college seal of Minerva sitting in a circle of ivy, the college plant, clasped to their manly bosoms.—New York Sun.

Pointers for Women Voters.

I have a small opinion of a woman who only controls one ballot, unless, indeed, her acquaintance is limited to one man, then of course she has done her best. And I must confess the woman voter does not evoke my admiration as does the woman who is not visible at the polls, but who, as the darkies say, "lays low and chews poke root" and pulls wires. The small hand that controls the keys of a typewriter or of a piano or even the heart of a man is a stronger power in politics than twenty voters.

We reek in politics nowadays, and if there was only some soap made guaranteed to wash them so that like the sinners they might be whiter than snow, there would be a great demand for it. However, we are having torchlight processions, and each one of us feels that great glow of enthusiasm that is only evoked by a transparency lighted by two tallow dips and a band playing the "Star Spangled Banner." To the real patriot it doesn't make much difference in whose interest this procession goes—she, the female patriot, feels that it is for some good cause, and she stands on the street risking pneumonia and having the sort of time that she expects to get in heaven. —Mrs. Mallon's Letter.

Bohemian Women's Clubs.

The women of Bohemia have about 160 different clubs and societies organized for the advancement and aid of women in different lines of work. One of the clubs or societies, numbering 600 members, is for the purpose of protecting young girls. A home is provided for them and opportunities for study in the schools afforded until they are old enough to go out to service. Another club, the Minerva, is devoted to raising the standard of education for women by founding schools and securing admission of women students to the universities. One college for women now exists, and in four years the University of Prague will be open to them.

WILSON'S TROUBLES.

The Story of a Water-Front Water-Cart.

A ROMANTIC FEATURE OF THE CITY'S LIFE.

An Odd Vehicle That Rattles About the Front—Its Driver and His Landlady.

Many strange and striking stories may be heard about the Water-front, if one is not engrossed in the bustle of money-getting or the still more prosaic and hardening occupation of mere bread-winning, and has a perception and imagination, sensitive amid leisure, to the romantic and picturesque elements of the life into which enters "the beauty and mystery of the ships and the magic of the sea."

One of the many interesting stories there that have long waited for a narrator is one associated with an odd looking cart that may frequently be seen standing near the foot of Sacramento street, and at other times may be seen about the busy wharves beside puffing donkey-engines. This odd looking cart is engaged in a business of which few people know anything about. It is that of supplying fresh water to ships and schooners about ready to sail. The cart has a slight resemblance to a fire-hose cart, and is owned by Goodall, Perkins & Co.; proprietors of the Pacific Coast Steamship Line. At all hours of the day orders are sent or telephoned to the main office to supply this or that vessel with so many gallons of water; and if the cart is not engaged elsewhere it immediately rolls away, the hose is unreeled and a stream of Spring Valley water is soon pouring from a hydrant at so much a gallon, into great water-casks on deck or in the hole.

For over a year Fred. J. Wilson has driven this odd-looking cart about the water-front. He is a stout, hearty-looking man of about 35 years, and two or three years ago was a florist at No. 339 Bush street, where he framed as pretty boutonnieres and corsage bouquets as could be found in the city. He was prosperous and bade fair to make his place one of the best known in the city. Then adversity came along, and the little story here related began to develop.

He told his story last evening as he stepped from his cart and prepared to go to his present little home on Stevenson street.

"No, I have not the slightest objection to telling the story," he said as he rested a brawny arm on a cart wheel and gave his slouch hat a little pull to further shade his handsome but swathy face. "My troubles came about this way; for over a year I suffered with severe pains in my back and kidneys, and when urinating I endured the most terrible hot burning pains. My urine contained a red sediment that resembled brick dust. I also suffered constantly with nervousness, weariness and dizziness. Distressing as these symptoms were, I did not do anything for them supposing that it was some temporary trouble that would come all right in time. After reaching my rooms one evening the dizzy feeling came over me and I fell to the floor in an unconscious state. The landlady, hearing me fall, came into the room, and finding me unconscious, sent for a physician. He pronounced my case Bright's disease of the kidneys, and as my father had died from this disease, I was greatly alarmed. I placed myself under his care and he seemed to do me much good. For a while I seemed all right again. Taking a heavy cold brought on a return of my troubles, together with inflammation of the bladder. My urine, instead of being red and burning as before, became ropy, stringy, and white as chalk. I went at once to my physician, but this time his medicine failed to relieve me as it had done before. Seeing the advertisement of Warner's Safe Cure and the statement of its wonderful results, I concluded to try it. I had not taken half a bottle when I began to feel better. After taking several bottles, I felt that I was cured, but to make myself certain of it, I had my urine examined by a physician who pronounced it free from all traces of the disease. The trouble has never come back since then and to-day I am as strong and healthy a man as there is in the city. I have recommended Warner's Safe Cure to several people and I shall always do so for it cured me when physicians failed."

The reporter thanked Mr. Wilson for his story and left him feeling confident that his story was true and that the water-front could afford few more striking tales of life saving.—San Francisco Evening Post.

The Buck and the Barbed Wire.

W. C. Green was coming across the country near Hereford, accompanied by others, when he came up with a large buck deer tangled up in the barbed wire of a neighboring fence. His horns were so completely tied up in the wire that it was with difficulty that they were extracted after a bullet had ended his life. He had evidently struggled for many hours to regain his liberty.—Tombstone (A. T.) Prospector.

The Arab's Pride in His Horse.

Arabian horses need no praise. Of the many beautiful stories told of the Arabs that given in the well known poem, "Achmid and His Mare," surpasses all. Achmid had a mare of wondrous speed and guarded it with jealous care. A robber stole her, leaped upon her back and shouted to Achmid to catch her if he could. Achmid and his tribe mounted and went in hot pursuit. Suddenly the thought came to him, "If I overtake my mare she is then outrun; she will lose her fame." Shouting to the robber, "Quick pinch her ear!" he revealed the secret sign his darling knew so well. Achmid lost his mare, as he knew he would, but her glory was secure.

I knew that if her ear be nipped
The darling prize could never be outstripped.
—Caroline K. Sherman in Chicago Herald.

Feminine Humor.

The people who have sometimes uttered the very unsafe generalization that "women have no sense of humor" must be unacquainted with the genuine American girl, whose gift for a sort of humor which almost seems to be the peculiar property of this country—comical comparisons and odd exaggerations—is beyond doubt very great. A certain young New York girl of eighteen is well known to her friends to possess this sense of humor. Of a particularly haughty and repellent woman she remarked, "She steps as if the ground were not good enough for her to walk on; and, therefore, she always wears rubbers!"—Youth's Companion.

Ugly and Hateful,

but I couldn't help it. Everything went wrong with me, and I thought I hadn't a friend in the world; dyspepsia caused this, and for months I couldn't eat anything, and just suffered in misery till I used Sulphur Bitters. Three bottles cured me.—D. Lewis, 22 Bowdoin street Boston, Mass.

A Little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich, and are blessed with a daughter, four years old. Last April she was taken down with Measles, followed with a dreadful Cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain, she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. King's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at Dr. Wegner's Drug store.

NAGLE IN COURT.

In the Justice's Court of Santa Rosa Township, Sonoma County, California.

J. W. RAGSDALE, Plaintiff, vs. F. G. NAGLE, Defendant.

The plaintiff for cause of action against the defendant, alleges: That on the 16th day of November, 1888, said defendant, F. G. Nagle, received from G. W. Call the sum of one hundred (100) dollars, the property of the Sonoma County Abstract Bureau; that of said money said defendant, Nagle, returned to said Bureau the sum of $20 only, and retained, and ever since has retained, the balance of said $100, to-wit, $80, for his own use, and that no part of said $80 has ever been paid; that said Bureau assigned said claim to plaintiff.

For a further and separate cause of action plaintiff alleges: That defendant is indebted to plaintiff in the sum of $80 for money had and received from G. W. Call, November 16th, 1888, for the use and benefit of the Sonoma County Abstract Bureau, which claim has been assigned to the plaintiff, and that no part of the same has ever been paid.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays for a judgment against defendant for the sum of $80 and costs.

RUTLEDGE & PRESSLEY,
Attorneys for Plaintiff.

Dec. 9, 1891, complaint filed, summons issued and served. Dec. 15 default and judgment entered against defendant for $80 and costs. Dec. 16th, Nagle pays judgment.
